Central Virginia Accounting Firm Nearly Doubles Employee Base and Business Operations with Services from Comcast Business

Faster Internet Speeds and Network Reliability Enable Company to Better Service Its Clients

RICHMOND, VA – February 20, 2020 – For over a decade, Clarkson David, CPA, a full-service accounting and consulting firm in Rockville, Va., has helped clients grow their business in an increasingly complex, competitive and ever-changing environment. However, with the automation of digital services across the industry and dependence on accounting software, which operates entirely online, Clarkson David, CPA required a secure, high-speed network.

The company turned to Comcast Business Internet and VoiceEdge phone service in 2018 to help propel its operations. With access to the network, Clarkson David, CPA has since been able to grow its staff and offer clients enhanced digital tools, including an online portal and screen-sharing capabilities, and significantly increase its network bandwidth with access to cloud-sharing.

“With the majority of our accounting applications being web-based, we were severely limited by our previous service provider,” said Cheri G. David, CPA, co-founder of Clarkson David, CPA. “Thanks to Comcast Business’ Internet and phone capabilities, we’re now able to grow from three to eight employees and provide services to our clients all over the country with faster solutions, as well as immediate access to their online book-keeping.”

According to Juan Dominguez, vice president of business services for Comcast’s Beltway Region, “Access to cutting-edge technology is a crucial factor to our local businesses’ ability to grow. Our partnership with Clarkson David, CPA is a great example of how Comcast Business is committed to revolutionizing accounting firms of all sizes to help give them a competitive edge in today’s digital world.”
